ALL CARE MEDICAL CONSULTANTS P.A.

Acknowledgement for Advanced Directives

Introduction: As a part of a person's right to self-determination, every adult may accept or refuse any recommended medical treatment. This is relatively easy when people are well and can speak. Unfortunately, during severe illness people are often unconscious or otherwise unable to communicate their wishes at the time when many critical decisions need to be made.

During the time, important decisions about your medical care may have to be made. Without any written instructions from you, your family and physicians would have to guess what treatment you would want. In some cases, they may be forced to proceed with treatments they know you would not desire simply because your preference was not expressed in writing. You can help your family and physicians by telling them, in advance, what you would want done in certain situations. This planning ahead for future healthcare decisions is known as an Advance Directive.

The Advanced Directives states your wishes regarding various types of medical treatment in several representative situations so that your desires can be respected. It comes into effect only if you become incompetent (unable to make decisions or express your wishes), and you can change it at any time until then. As long as you are competent, you should discuss your care directly with your physician. Before you fill out the Advanced Directive-Living Will, Healthcare Surrogate/or DNR form, you may want to talk to your family, friends, physician, lawyer or spiritual advisor. The Advanced Directives also lets you appoint someone to make medical decisions for you, if you should become unable to make your own; this is a proxy or durable power or attorney. Additionally, it contains a statement of your wishes concerning organ donation.

When you make your personal choices in the Directive, you may want to consider one question. Is there a condition or set of circumstances which could exist in which you would refuse efforts to prolong your life? The Directive describes situations and allows you to indicate which treatments you would or would not want if your physician recommended them. If a situation you are particularly concerned about is not included; you can make additional comments in the section provided.
